

Suresh Sundaresan (MS, PhD Carnegie Mellon University)
Chase Manhattan Bank Professor of Economics and Finance
Columbia Business School

Past/Present Industry Positions – Senior Strategist, Lehman Brothers, Fixed Income Trading/Research (1987-1988), Consultant to Morgan Stanley Fixed Income Asset Management (2000-2001), Director of Research, Capula Investment Management, (a Hedge fund in fixed income area), London, (Year 2009). Currently serves as a board member of Capula Investment Management Company, London.

Past Policy Positions – Resident Scholar at the New York Fed, Member of Bond Markets Advisory Committee to the US Treasury, Visiting Scholar at the IMF, Member of Financial Markets Round Table at the New York Fed.

Publications – Journal of Finance, Journal of Financial Economics, Review of Financial Studies, Journal of Political Economy, American Economic Review, European Economic Review, etc.

Expert Witness – Testified at Enron trial in Houston. Testified on matters relating to Credit default swaps, Derivatives, Hedge books, Corporate credit risk management, bankruptcies, etc.

Current Research – Repo auctions, Liquidity provision by central banks, Risk management of hedge funds, Bank contingent capital, theories of capital structure, corporate cash/liquidity management, Growth options, Credit risk, and swaps.